Want to know more? Here's what critics are saying about these authors:

Dan Jones (Magna Carta) "By putting the Magna Carta in its proper historical context, the brilliant young historian Dan Jones triumphantly answers the questions he poses in his Introduction, about how it came to be granted, what it meant at the time, and what it should mean to us today."—Andrew Roberts, New York Times bestselling author of Storm of War and Napoleon

Leonard Pitts (Grant Park) Grant Park is a page-turning and provocative look at black and white relations in contemporary America, blending the absurd and the poignant in a powerfully well-crafted narrative that showcases Pitts's gift for telling emotionally wrenching stories.

Ari Berman (Give Us The Ballot) In this groundbreaking narrative history, Ari Berman charts both the transformation of American democracy under the Voting Rights Act and the counterrevolution that has sought to limit voting rights, from 1965 to the present day.

Diana Nyad (Find A Way) "Find A Way" is Diana Nyad's amazing, inspiring firsthand account of her record-breaking swim, after four failed attempts, from Cuba to Florida, at the age of sixty-four—and of her extraordinary quest to live life at the highest level, in and out of the water. Tickets available at ACappella Books.
